

Arthurdale

Terry Day

Rising from the valley, woods, and hills
Borne of coal miner dreams and promises to be out from dirt floor ills.

On Fairfax and Arthurland
They came to build a better life.
Forging homes and farms. Make a stand.

With a sleepy creek, rolling vista view.
Lettered roads and center hub
Lives were changed, homes anew.

Guiding the visions and direction of all
A New Deal angel watched over the fold,
and of solid sons and daughters who answered the call.

A new heritage then arose,
celebrating success and family legacies.
Bringing homesteaders together, neighbors close